

EVIL EAR PRESENTS MOLOSSER

VIDEO/SINGLE RELEASE

MOLOSSER: RAY OF MOONLIGHT – JULY 5th 2021

Hi! Sorry to bother you again so soon after the last release (Dive In), but it can't be helped: We have released yet another gem with Swedish MOLOSSER, a video and single of the song *Ray of Moonlight from MOLOSSER's debut album, Appear. This time it's more of a regular Americana/acoustic rock number – as regular as you get with two downtuned acoustic guitars, vocals and drums and MOLOSSER's idiosyncratic playing and songwriting, that is.

On the video, it is finally revealed how MOLOSSER go about playing (at least) two guitars and drums while being just a duo. You can also find the single on Spotify and, of course, all other major streaming and downloading platforms.

The single is taken from MOLOSSER's debut album *Appear, released in May, which has received raving reviews and radio play in Texas, Poland and lots of other places around the globe. More about this on our reviews & radio page (<https://evilear.com/reviews/>)!

Upcoming: We're saving the last official video from the album, Ellesmere Island, for the fall, but will be posting more barebones/live videos (<https://evilear.com/audioidvideo#Barebones>) during the summer. These are basic, rough recordings with just the two guitars and vocals – Ray of Moonlight is already available in a rather more earthy version there. MOLOSSER will also keep working with new material for the second album.
